JOHNSON AIDES SEE CHANCES OF CHIEF IMPROVE

Reports of Withdrawal of Financial Support Based on Misconstruction

SUPPORTS SOLDIER BONUS Movement Depends Chiefly on Personal Campaign of California Senator

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—Senator Johnson's financial supporters have not abandoned him nor do they intend to do so. The published reports of a withdrawal of financial aid for the primary campaign in New York state are a misconstruction of a decision made several months ago when the Johnson campaign was planned. Certain sums were allocated for each state but it was decided not to make as extensive a canvass in New York because the senator relies thereupon for his 1920 strength with the voters and his power of personal appeal with the masses as well as the aid of certain newspapers.

Mr. Johnson's friends feel that his chances are getting better daily, that the next campaign will be won in the west and that the Teapot Dome controversy has so involved President Coolidge with the responsibility of retaining officers in his cabinet until forced to dismiss them that the public will want a new state.

CLEAN GOVERNMENT ISSUE
The Johnson campaign is based on the issue of clean government as expounded by the California senator. He favors a soldier bonus, tax reduction and what he terms a progressive program.

The Coolidge forces have by no means ignored the Johnson movement and while confident of victory would nevertheless feel better if the Californians were out of the way. To checkmate Johnson there is a plan afoot to reduce his prestige nationally if possible by a contest in the California primaries, the theory being that if Johnson could be deprived of the Republican endorsement in his home state he would not have any strength to speak of elsewhere.

Governor F. N. Richardson of California who is said to cherish ambitions for the vice presidential nomination is the only man who ever polled more votes in California than Johnson. First it was thought he would head the list of Coolidge electors in California but at the eleventh hour this plan was abandoned because Mr. Richardson could not very well be a delegate and a candidate at the same time. Some of the Coolidge backers in the east are reported to favor the idea of trying to put Richardson in the primaries as a running mate with President Coolidge.

HAD JOHNSON SUPPORT
Analizing the Richardson victory last time, the Johnsonian viewpoint seems to be that he received a large vote because many of the Johnson Republicans thought Richardson was endorsed by Johnson. When Richardson first was elected to office as state treasurer he had the Johnson support.

The personnel of the Coolidge list of delegates in California is virtually the same as that which took hold of the campaign of Charles Evans Hughes in 1916. While Mr. Johnson may have lost some strength since the last time he ran, the champions of his cause are sure that as between the senator and the conservative group who are behind Mr. Coolidge, California will vote overwhelmingly for its favorite son.

The Johnson movement is depending mostly on the personal campaign of the senator in various primaries. His backers say he needs less money than any other type of candidate because of the magic of his voice and personality. There is no disposition to abandon him; on the contrary there is a revived interest in the possibility that he may yet hold the whip hand in the Republican convention especially if the middle western radicals have a candidate too.

MICHIGAN DARK HORSE IS MYTH, RUMORS CLAIM

Newspapermen Fail to Find Hiram Johnston After Searching Since Saturday

By Associated Press
Saginaw, Mich.—Belief that Zilwaukee's "Hiram" Johnson is a myth invented to throw the Michigan presidential preferential primary election of April 7, into confusion, is growing here as newspapermen, after searching since Saturday, report failure in their efforts to find him. Johnston's name was certified for a place on the Republican presidential ballot on Friday when petitions were filed with the secretary of state at Lansing.

"Johnston" is said to be a Zilwaukee township farmer, but thus far only two persons have been found who profess ever to have known or heard of him. They are William J. Siegrist of Zilwaukee, justice of the peace who admits circulating the Johnston petitions, and John Baird, Zilwaukee, state conservation commissioner, who is said to have filed the petitions at Lansing. Each has refused to disclose Johnston's whereabouts or to lift the veil of mystery that shrouds his identity.

Neither of the two rural mail carriers who deliver all the mail that goes into Zilwaukee township knows Hiram Johnston. Long time residence of the community say they know of no one there by that name.

INCLUDE THIS CITY IN GREAT POWER SYSTEM

New Transmission Line Will Tie Appleton in With Milwaukee

Appleton's electrical power supply will be second to none in the state before the end of this year because of plans now underway to join the system of Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company with that of The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company by means of high capacity transmission lines.

This city thus will be able to draw power from the largest and most efficient electric power system in Wisconsin. The available capacity of the Appleton plant not only will be increased greatly, but continuity of service likewise will be safeguarded.

The first section of transmission lines designed to accomplish this purpose already have been built. It was erected during the latter part of 1923 and extends from Milwaukee to Plymouth. The section from Plymouth to Hilbert will be built during the current year, according to announcement made by company officials. The Appleton lines now extend to Hilbert and the connection made there will complete one of the most powerful electrical circuits anywhere in the state.

ANOTHER PROJECT
Another power project has been launched in the Fox river valley, but it will have nothing to do with the traction company's electrical plant here nor will it be connected to any of the circuits supplying Outagamie, Neenah, Menasha and points in Waupaca and Calumet counties. It is the construction of a high voltage transmission line from Green Bay to Oshkosh, a distance of 88 miles, connecting five water power stations with three steam stations.

This undertaking is announced by the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, of which Clement C. Smith, Milwaukee, is president. The company owns the utilities in Green Bay, Oshkosh and several other Wisconsin cities. The expenditure will amount to $550,000, of which $250,000 will be used for the Green Bay-Oshkosh power line. The remaining $300,000 will be spent for a large turbine, boiler and auxiliary equipment at the Oshkosh steam plant.

About 150 men will work on the Green Bay-Oshkosh line, starting from the place where the line is to be worked in November. The line will be built along the right-of-way of the company's interurban line from Green Bay to Kaukauna, thence due west on a line about two miles north of Appleton. It will extend south from a point three miles west of Appleton to Oshkosh, detouring around Neenah-Menasha also. The principal object is to give the Oshkosh plant the benefit of water power when available and to increase the power supply at that point.

Officials of Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company declare that the aggregate steam generating capacity of Wisconsin Public Service corporation's plants located at Green Bay, Manitowoc and Oshkosh is less than the steam plant of the Appleton company. The former concern has been purchasing a substantial amount of power from Appleton, for delivery to its lines at Hilbert. The prospect of electricity service rates for both small customers and large industrial consumers are lower than those of the other company.

Publisher Blames Wife For Wrecked Romance

New York.—Eugene V. Brewster, wealthy magazine publisher said Tuesday that he and Miss Corliss Palmer, young and beautiful, had given up all hope of marriage and that Miss Palmer would leave for an unnamed city to engage in business under an assumed name.

Brewster placed the blame for his wrecked romance on his second wife, who it is said, refused to divorce him. Also, he declared, he had failed to divorce her after repeated attempts.

Brewster had planned to install Miss Palmer in a $250,000 home he has just completed at Morristown, N. J.

"Circumstances require that Miss Palmer leave New York city and alter her life sufficiently to conform to conditions which we have found impossible to change," he said. "Our friendship has been dragged forth and exhibited to a morbid and misunderstanding public often enough. I purpose that she be subjected no longer to that sort of thing."

First knowledge of the pair's intentions was made known in November, 1922, when he characterized his affection for the girl as "the perfect love" and declared that he was going to marry her if it took a hundred years.

Brewster met Miss Palmer when she won a motion picture beauty contest under the auspices of one of his magazines. She formerly was a cigar store counter attendant in Macon, Ga.

EDUCATION IS NEED OF STATE NASH DECARES

Motor Magnate Criticizes Laxity of Administration in Backing Industry

Kenosha.—Sharply rapping the state administration for its lack of judgment in dealing with the encouragement of industry in Wisconsin, Charles W. Nash president of the Nash Motors Co., a company employing more than 7,500 people in Wisconsin, declared in an address here Monday night that the greatest need for Wisconsin was education.

"The reason it is possible for some men to hold Wisconsin back is the fact that the people of a great portion of the state are ignorant of the great contribution that the industries are making to the state," said Mr. Nash. "Encouragement of industry for a few years would make Wisconsin the most prosperous and the most wealthy state in the union."

"The natural resources of the state are being overlooked by the politicians and many people are not told the facts in regard to industrial development and what it means to the state. Every feature of Wisconsin life could be improved with just a little encouragement of industry. If the men in charge of the government sought intelligently to bring it rather than to be lukewarm in encouragement or take a positively antagonistic attitude toward industry the whole state would reap great benefits."

"The men who pay taxes in Wisconsin are just as much interested in the advance of the state as the men who spend the money," declared the speaker.

Mr. Nash declared that a critical study of nationwide conditions led him to believe that the business interests of the nation were about to enter on a period of prosperity such as the nation had not known since the close of the Civil war.

RAIL CHIEFS ASK RECALL OF U. S. ORDER

Eighty-nine First Class Railroads Object to Safety Device Installation

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Eighty-nine first class railroads asked the Interstate Commerce commission Tuesday to modify its order for installation of automatic train control devices.

It was requested that a part of the requirements be set aside entirely and that the effective date of the others be delayed.

The joint petition declared that automatic train control devices intended to stop a train when it enters a danger zone are as yet imperfectly developed and that the experimental operation of them does not justify extensive utilization. It was declared also that installation of such devices would require the railroads to spend "many millions" without assurance of return, and without effectively increasing safety.

The commission has issued two orders, one requiring 47 railroads to install control devices on one passenger division each before Jan. 1925, and one requiring all class I roads to make the installation on one or more additional passenger divisions. The petition asked a rehearing as to the entire scope of the second order and another year's postponement of the effective date on the first order.

Senator Reed declared that the information furnished the committee concerning two members of the house of representatives showed that it was not a matter for investigation but for prompt prosecution.

Chief Prosecutor Quashes Alleged Attempt to Involve Him in Deals

SEEK TO HAMPER PROBE

Alluring Bid Is Refused in View of Official Position of Recipient

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Surprises tumbled over one another again Tuesday when the oil committee resumed its public hearings. Senator Walsh of Montana, the committee's chief prosecutor, presented correspondence showing that E. L. Doherty sought last December to interest him in an oil enterprise, and that he promptly refused to have anything to do with any venture that might make him appear in a wrong light in view of his official position.

William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation at the justice department, testified that E. B. McLean had been placed on the roll of secret agents of the department soon after inauguration day in 1921; that he still retained that connection and that the famous "Mary" message was sent to Florida in an effort to suggest that he should resign in order not to embarrass Attorney Daugherty. Francis H. McAdoo, son of William C. McAdoo, told the committee that McLean had telegraphed that A. Mitchell Palmer, who was attorney general under Wilson was acting as attorney for Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair. Mr. Palmer already had denied any such connection.

Washington, D. C.—Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief prosecutor in the oil inquiry, refused in December to enter into any oil transactions with E. L. Doherty.

It might be "squeamishness on my part," Senator Walsh told Doherty, but he could not appear to use his official position for profit.

Senator Walsh said the purpose of the negotiations apparently was to hamper the work of the oil committee.

Telegrams put into the record of the oil committee Tuesday showed that after Walsh had forwarded to Doherty a suggestion from a constituent as to development of the Montana oil field, Doherty suggested that Walsh and his brother go to Los Angeles and consult about it.

Doherty based his suggestion on a proviso that the Montana senator or his brother was willing to "take interest" in the proposition.

BID WAS MOST ALLURING
Senator Walsh replied that the suggestion was "most alluring" but said he could not accept because lacking negotiations with the government would be necessary.

"While I am in the official position I hold," said Walsh's reply, "it seems to me unwise for me to engage in any business dependent in any appreciable degree on government favor."

The correspondence took place before Doherty revealed that he had loaned $100,000 to A. B. Fall, but after the senate inquiry into the Sinclair and Doherty feuds had been begun.

In reading the messages into the record, Senator Walsh said efforts had been made "to discover something that might be urged feloniously or otherwise against me."

"That end would be served," he said "if it could be whispered about that there had been an exchange of telegrams between Doherty and myself."

No motive could be found for the suicide.

Mr. Beckwith was born in Saginaw, Mich., in 1869, coming to Superior in 1890, and had resided here ever since. He is survived by five daughters and four sons.

DON'T BUILD HOME COSTING MORE THAN 3 TIMES YOUR PAY

Henry Boldt Gives Home Builders Class "Tips" on Building

A man who is earning $100 a month should not acquire a home costing more than $3,500, even if his wife is working, Henry Boldt, contractor, said in his talk to the home builders class at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening. Mr. Boldt said that if a couple have the combined salary of $100 a month, they should not build a house that would cost more than three times their annual salary.

When asked how much money a person should have for a $3,500 home, Mr. Boldt said that if a man had his lot clear and $500, he would be reasonably certain of being able to finance the building. He urged that young people just starting out and building such homes build them on lots that cost only in the neighborhood of $500.

CONTENT COSTS
In explaining his talk, the speaker gave the cost per cubic foot of building various types of houses. He said that the price of frame work building varies now from 30 to 32 cents, while that of stucco varies from 38 to 40 cents and of brick from 45 to 50 cents. He said that there was some difference of opinion as to cubic content and that all cubic content figures presuppose standard fixtures. He said that the costs given in the various kinds of plans offered to the home builder now vary greatly but the ones which come from Minneapolis and St. Paul come the nearest to costs in this part of the country.

Prof. O. P. Fairfield will give the next talk in the home builders series on architecture on Monday evening. The class is open to any who wish to give consideration to the home building problems. There are nearly as many women registered in the course as men.

Plans of more than 1,000 houses were on display at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening. Books on the subject are in the office of C. L. Dornan and may be used there at any time.

ASK FOR BIDS
Mr. Boldt said that the best way to get bids was to ask for them from four or five contractors whom you would allow to build your home. He urged that the practice of opening of bids when all contractors are present be followed so that each man may know that he received a square deal. He pointed out that every contractor has to spend a great deal of time in making estimates and that in most cases he never knows where he stands in the list of estimators until he has made a record one year and that he spent 90 days of his time in making figures.

The speaker explained that contracts vary. They may include everything or only part of the work. It was the opinion of the speaker that through the establishment of a bureau of quantity survey a great deal of time could be saved for the contractor and money for the builder. He said that some one has to pay for the contractor's time in figuring and that it is the builder who pays in addition.

LET WOMEN HELP
"The women should be given a great deal to say in the building of a house," said Mr. Boldt. "A woman will tell her husband what she wants in the house but she hesitates about telling the contractor. The best houses are those planned in cooperation with the woman who is going to use the house most."

4 MORE CANDIDATES FOR NOMINATION AT MAR. 18 PRIMARIES

John Gilsdorf Candidate for Election as Assessor—Two Mayorality Candidates

When the time for filing nomination papers for candidates for city offices closed Monday, it revealed only four more candidates, three of which were candidates for aldermen and one a candidate for assessor.

John P. Gilsdorf, a former city assessor of Appleton, living at 692 Second, is again a candidate for the office now held by A. C. Rule.

Among the aldermanic candidates are J. C. Hemel, 602 Maple-st., and William A. Gust, 636 Walden-ave., both of the Fourth ward. Mr. Hemel is caretaker of the Riverview Golf club grounds, and Mr. Gust is a mill employee. In the Fifth ward A. W. Zuehl, 1017 Franklin-st., became a candidate. This also brings the list to four candidates a from that ward. Mr. Zuehl is engaged in real estate work.

CAN WRITE NAMES

Nominations for any city office are now closed, but voters may add other candidates by writing in their names on the ballots in the primary election on Tuesday, March 18. To have their names placed on the ballots for the regular election on April 1, the candidates whose names are so written in must have the same percentage of votes as the nominees were required to have signers, and that is 2 per cent of the vote cast for the successful candidate at the last election.

Tuesday evening it will be decided in the office of E. L. Williams, city clerk, in what order the names of the candidates are to appear on the printed ballots. This is decided by casting lots. The list of precinct voting sections remains the same as last year, with the exception of the booths that were in Conway hotel have been moved across the street into the General Auto shop on Washington-st.

The candidates that will have no opposition at the primaries are Fred Bachman, city treasurer; C. D. Thompson, alderman from the Second ward, and Supervisors F. H. Ryan, Second ward; Joseph Mayer, Third ward; John Tracy, Fourth ward; Peter Rademacher, Fifth ward, and Louis Jens, Sixth ward.

No new candidates for mayor had entered the race. The contest is thus restricted to John Goodland and Gustave Keller. The contest for aldermen is the most complicated in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards.

The complete list of nominees for all offices is as follows:

For mayor—Gustav Keller and John Goodland.
For attorney—Theodore Berg and A. C. Bosser.
For assessor—A. C. Rule and J. P. Gilsdorf.
For treasurer—Fred Bachman.
For alderman, First ward—J. A. Wood and Mike Steinhauer.
For alderman, Second ward—C. D. Thompson.
For alderman, Third ward—George T. Richard and J. M. Waltes.
For alderman, Fourth ward—Jerrie Thompson.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Multisided cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

WAUSAU SOON WILL HAVE NEW HOTEL

Hotel Bellis, Long a Landmark, Will Soon Pass Out of Existence

Wausau — Wausau on March 1 lost, in name, its oldest hotel landmark, with the taking over and changing of name of the Bellis hotel to the Wausau hotel.

The old Bellis hotel which may still be used for a few weeks until it is torn down to give place to the new modern $1,000,000 hotel, was built in 1881, and had been repeatedly enlarged and improved and it was for many years considered the best hotel in the state, outside of Milwaukee.

Wausau's business has steadily grown, and the 200 rooms of the present day Bellis hotel were far from sufficient to meet the demands of the traveling public. Last fall Wausau capitalists with the Schroeder company of Milwaukee, formed a new hotel association, and on Saturday paid over the $350,000 purchase price to the heirs of George M. Bellis, the original founder.

George Bellis came to Wausau in

Breaks Bone In Leap From Burning Home

John Miller of Stockbridge, who was badly burned Friday night when his house was destroyed by fire and who was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Saturday, passed a restless night Monday night, but conditions are favorable for his recovery. His burns are confined principally to his face, head, hands and feet.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Miller, who aroused her husband. Mr. Miller lost no time in getting his children to a place of safety. Alexander, 17, was the only member of the family who slept upstairs and the only member missing. Mr. Miller dashed upstairs through the smoke and flames to save him, only to find he escaped by way of a back porch. He was unable to return by way of the stairs and, with his night clothing on fire, he leaped out an upper window.

At first it was thought both his ankles were fractured but an examination of his injuries revealed that the only bone broken was one in his heel. Members of the family did not have time even to save their clothing, making their escape in their night robes. The fire is supposed to have started from an electric wire. The home was built less than two years ago.

ELECTRIC SHOCK KILLS NEENAH MAN

William Dennhardt Jolted to Death When He Changes Fuse

Neenah—William Dennhardt, 221 Washington avenue, aged 64 years, brother of Mayor J. H. Dennhardt of this city, is dead as the result of electrical shock sustained Saturday afternoon at the plant of the Hardwood Products company where he has been employed for six or seven years as assistant engineer.

The accident which resulted in Mr. Dennhardt's death occurred when he attempted to change a fuse in a panel which is the main distributing point from the switchboard on the second floor of the factory.

It appears that Dennhardt mounted a pile of railings to change the fuse. With his left hand he swung back the metal door of the fuse box. Keeping his right for the fuse, he carried a safety puller, but was apparently so close to the wall that he was unable to make use of it. His arms and body formed the contact and he received the full force of the 440 volts carried in the circuit.

WANTS LAWRENCE TO HAVE STATION FOR BROADCASTING

Former College Man Believes Station Would Be Good Thing

Lawrence college should establish a radio broadcasting station, according to Warren E. Brooks, former Lawrence man, now in Chicago. Mr. Brooks has written The Post-Crescent urging agitation for construction of a station here.

Sometime ago trustees of the college considered erection of a broadcasting station but it was said following the meeting that there was little disposition to spend money for that purpose at this time. Other needs of the college are more imperative than a radio station, it was believed.

Mr. Brooks' letter follows: "Editor Appleton Post-Crescent—Why would it not be possible to have a good Radio Broadcasting Station at Lawrence College to serve the Community? For the life of me I do not see why it could not be immediately undertaken."

"The Post-Crescent" carry a story from Menasha which states that they are endeavoring to have a broadcasting set installed in that city and the expense borne by the people of town. Now if there is to be a set in the valley, my idea is that Lawrence College, Appleton is the logical place. Don't you?

"The memorial chapel was a futile dream of many years standing until the community got back of it in that enthusiastic way that is so characteristic of Appleton. The result is that there is an auditorium in the town used by the whole valley, to their everlasting benefit, that few towns of much larger population are able to boast. Here is another opportunity for the community to give the college another life that will, at the same time, immeasurably benefit the community."

"With a good broadcasting outfit that would not cost much to equip and keep up, news of the town and community could be broadcast; concerts and entertainments from the conservatory could be given regularly; lectures and entertainments from the Memorial chapel could be given to the entire valley, and even further. Distant powerful stations could be picked up by the station and broadcast again to the local 'listeners in' whose sets could not pick up such distant and exceptional programs. Yes it is my belief that here is something that the community ought to have."

"Your interest, dear sir, in the life of the community moves me to write you this letter that you may place this important matter before your readers for their immediate action. The first town to take action will get the benefit (I believe that Lawrence college has a government permit.)"

Philosophical Club
The Fox River Valley Philosophical club met Monday afternoon in Dr. H. E. Penick's study in the First Congregational church. Dr. John Wilson read a paper on "The Radical Tendencies of Religious Thought."

THE WHITE HOUSE AND OIL

As the testimony in the public lands committee investigation is developed, the scandal continues to widen. An amazing situation in the department of justice and in respect to the pulling of wires for secret and sinister purposes, is revealed. We find that, Edward B. McLean, who is shown to be an unscrupulous politician and an evil influence in Washington affairs, and whose connection with the oil scandal puts him in a decidedly unsavory light, had a close relationship with Attorney-General Daugherty, who made him a "secret agent" of the government and provided him with the secret code book, a badge and the accompanying prerogatives.

McLean, who was sojourning in Florida at the time the exposure of the Fall bribery came, did everything in his power to suppress the investigation and defeat the exposure. He had a private wire installed between Washington and Florida, so as to give him "quick and easy access to the White house," and the White house telegraph operator took care of the Washington end of the wire. Over this wire the moves of every person connected with the investigation were instantly reported, and action taken in accordance with developments. Before the private wire was installed, commercial telegrams which have been public show that McLean was using powerful influences in Washington to bring pressure to bear upon the committee, and particularly Senator Walsh, to squelch the investigation.

Not only did McLean have the secret service code of the department of justice for the transmission of messages, but the evidence indicates that William J. Burns, chief of the secret service, was one of the McLean-Fall intimates who tipped off their principals to what was going on. McLean's confidential agent, William O. Duckstein, was represented in the department of justice by his wife Mary, and she was formerly Burns' private secretary, and more recently on the pay roll as a department agent. This same Mary was one of those who used the code to apprise McLean of the situation at the capital. McLean, and his guest, Albert Fall, were hourly advised of the senate committee's activities. When Walsh left for Florida to examine McLean, the latter was notified of the hour of his departure, train, etc.

Here was McLean in Florida sheltering one of the arch-criminals in this great national scandal, doubtless fully aware of his guilt, misrepresenting the facts to the committee and the public about the source of the $100,000 Fall received, utilizing to the utmost all that his money and influence could command to frustrate the investigation and to whitewash those who were guilty provided with the machinery of the department of justice and with "quick and easy access to the White house," and enjoying the reputation of being one of the chief factors behind the scene in the policies of the administration. It reveals the extent to which politics had descended and the desperate as well as the degrading part it was playing to cover up corruption and greed.

We do not see how Mr. Coolidge can keep Mr. Daugherty in his cabinet longer in the face of these remarkable disclosures. Not only should he discharge his attorney-general, but we think it is his duty to the people of the United States to issue a statement denouncing the men who are shown to be the ring-leaders in this blow at decent and honest government, and to disavow their acts. He owes it to himself and the public to repudiate and to disassociate himself entirely from them. He ought to make an explanation of the incidents which connect the White house with McLean in Florida. The necessity to clean house is increased. The necessity to get rid of Daugherty is emphasized. The necessity to absolve the White house from all connection with oil malfeactors of every kind is imperative.

GOLD IN 1923

The well-known British authority on economics, Mr. John Maynard Keynes, secretary of the Royal Economic society, discusses in an American liberal periodical whether the hour is approaching when gold will be discarded as the world's monetary base. His deductions emanate from consideration of the hoarding of gold in the United States.

The United States, he points out, now holds $3,920,000,000 of gold, which is stored away unused in reserves. He contends that it cost the United States last year "about $420,000,000 to maintain gold at a purely artificial value." This cost, or loss, consisted of $120,000,000 of interest on idle reserves and $300,000,000 for new gold imported.

It would be economy, he argues, for the United States to close the mints to reception of imported gold. Then Great Britain would absorb the yellow metal until the pound sterling attained its full gold value, whereupon the British mints would refuse to accept gold, and the flow would shift to other nations. By this system monetary values would be stabilized gradually throughout the world.

Mr. Keynes intimates that Great Britain has nothing to gain by upholding the value of gold. The British debt to the United States is payable in gold, and the debt would be diminished by depreciation of gold value. The colossal gold supply has caused but comparatively little price inflation in the United States, because it has been stored away as a reserve which would be redistributed throughout the world with the revival of trade. Now that Europe has begun to recover economically and politically, it should not be long until the gold store in the United States starts moving to Europe.

When business is dull, the gold reserves are large and prices are low. The United States has become the custodian of the world's gold reserves. As commerce picks up in Europe, prices will rise and the gold will be taken back there, flowing to the places which need it.

Gold is important in modern times as a monetary base. Currency and credit are adjusted to foodstuffs, commodities and other liquid assets. With our Federal Reserve system we have advanced farther than any nation, not excepting the British, in the sound use of currency and credit. Gold no longer fixes our prices. Commerce does this.

REGULATING ENGLAND

The Labor party in England proposes to legislate a greater degree of morality. Legislating morals is a large order, and students of human nature have frequently termed it impossible. Whether virtue can be increased by the fear of two years' imprisonment is doubtful; temptation is often not lessened, but augmented by the impression that fruits are forbidden. But the British, in something like desperation at the decided relaxation of old conventions of decency among youth, are apparently resolving to make the attempt. The Labor party is to be given credit at least for sincerity and a genuine sense of responsibility.

Among the proposed experiments is a law forbidding any one under 15 to enter a saloon; forbidding liquor sale to any one under 16; and even fining fathers who give a sip of beer to sons under that age. In other words England is trying to do what so many have urged upon the United States: Discriminate between the person liquor will quite surely affect to his detriment and the person who will be presumed capable of caring for himself.

If there is anything England is sure to find out in applying its interesting plan it is that the discrimination scheme is a partial and ineffective remedy for the evil it attempts to correct. So long as there are saloons they will be protected; minors will continue to frequent them, and to obtain their liquor indirectly. England is going over the same process of trial and error which ultimately eliminated the saloon in America. We, too, tried to regulate it.

SODIUM CITRATE

Sodium citrate is the second item in the medicine cupboard, as reader who are following and saving this series of articles will remember. Citrate of soda is another, but incorrect name for it. Years ago physicians commonly prescribed this for indigestion to milk in the modification of milk for infants, but sodium citrate was superseded by another alkali, lime water, and that in turn by oatmeal water or barley water. Sodium citrate in teaspoonful or larger doses is a saline cathartic having no more injurious effects than ordinary salts. Today, in one method of blood transfusion, sodium citrate is added to the blood to prevent or retard coagulation during the operation. This is further evidence of the harmlessness of the medicine.

The Sodium citrate serves just two purposes in the medicine cupboard — or three, counting how pretty it looks there. The first purpose is — Gosh, you can't begin to appreciate how I hate to tell you this. It seems like taking bread and butter, shoes and stockings "in" things right out of my brothers' mouths. No, not in the way you may imagine, but in an indirect way. You see, I'm about to divulge the formula for an all-around cough and cold snuffer. I can't say it — you know what generally goes with cough, just as eggs go with ham — and in putting this, I do not wish to say excellent remedy in your hands I am (1) saving you considerable expense, (2) protecting you from the harm you might have done with what you might have purchased for your cough — and (3) dealing a blow at the dope traffic that is conducted within the law. The last point is an important one. There is no doubt that many a serious illness is brought on by unwise dosing of a minor ailment, particularly when cough is a feature and the poor chap blips himself with disguised opiates.

Here is the formula. Take it or leave it. At any rate it belongs under the motto that Uncle Pete carved over the door of the medicine cupboard: Do Good If You Can But Do No Harm (Hippocrates, as rendered by Old Doctor Brady):
Sodium citrate One ounce
Glycerine One ounce
Juice of a lemon One pint
Flaxseed tea One pint
Spirits (oil) of peppermint 4 drops
I should take this medicine, or give it to a child, in preference to any other, for the relief of any or more acute cough or coryza — and coryza is a definite condition, not a mere fancy name for any old trouble which you may imagine is a "cold."

The dose is a tablespoon every two hours for a few days. For a child a teaspoonful every two or four hours. Add some sugar if more sweetening is desired. This home remedy and a 24 hour loaf in bed is about the best home treatment one can have.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Keep Tartar Off
What is the best way to keep tartar off the teeth or to remove it? (K. M.)
Answer.—Probably denatured of ultra refined food and disuse of the teeth—since such food does not require much mastication, particularly oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apples is advisable. Go to the dentist for removal of tartar.

Fruit Juices for Infants
Kindly tell me what's what in respect to giving fruit juices to babies. Both Holt's book and the government book (edited 10 years ago) say six months is the age to start this, but I understand it is started earlier now. (Mrs. C. R. J.)
Answer.—Infants artificially fed are given a teaspoonful or two orange juice daily from the third month, and more fruit juice daily as they grow older. If orange juice is not available, any other fresh fruit juice may be used. Tomato juice is nearly as good as orange juice, either fresh or canned tomatoes. The purpose of the fruit juice is to supply something, probably a vitamin.

Salts
Please explain what good it will do for the stomach or in general to take a teaspoonful of phosphate of soda and sulphate of soda mixed, in a glass of water warm or hot before breakfast every morning. (P. R.)
Answer.—I should not advise it.

SHE NIBBLES
Dear Tex: More information, please. About this tall, blonde man. I'm glad to find out that you're inclined to give what help you can. I'm just too thrilled to eat or sleep. I hope he's not a fake. If this should prove to be all bunk, I'm sure my heart would break.

More bait, Tex! That last helping was hardly enough for a square meal.

LOOKING FORWARD
The Appleton man who scrapes around the bottom of his bin for the screenings of the last ton of coal and tries to make a shovel full of coal last a week, gazes perplexedly at the anthracite dust and ash after and then out of the window. In tones of great emotion he bursts out, "Spring! If you desert me now, I think I'd better order another ton of coal!"

THE HOOF AND MOUTH SITUATION IS MORE ENCOURAGING TODAY
---Oshkosh Northwestern
We don't know how encouraging the situation is; nevertheless, we believe that both the hoof and the mouth are still situated in the same place. Surely, it would be heart more discouraging if the mouth were situated where the hoof is.

A husband is an ungrateful cuss, says Ophelia the grass widow. If his wife worries over his health, he'll complain he is henpecked. And if she quits worrying over his health, he'll complain she doesn't give a dang whether he dies or not.

Your complaint, Reform A. T. is too much in the nature of advertising, although that is the last thing you would have your letter serve. Hope you get our meaning.

Town Plants Its Own Forest On Unused Tract

Carring coals to Newcastle seems little more pleasant than the planting of little trees with which to reforest the lands around an American lumber town. Carthage is a village in St. Lawrence county, New York. It was built by lumbermen and today its prosperity is largely sustained by the large pulp and paper mills which, to a considerable extent, have replaced the sawmills. Yet Carthage has planted nearly 500 acres of little forest trees. She has entered into a program which will give her at least 2,000 acres of man-planted forest.

About 20 years ago Carthage realized that she must do something to insure a safe and adequate water supply for her people. So the city fathers explored and found a tract of land back in Lewis county well supplied with springs of pure water. Acting upon their advice the village purchased 2,000 acres of land which surrounded and protected the springs. The land was sandy and of no particular agricultural value. On some portions a little second growth timber had come in. Even after dams were built and the water was piped about 10 miles down to the village, the surrounding land remained neglected. They compared the open land with the nearby woods, and decided that the thing to do would be to put the land back under forest cover. This land had once supported a dense forest; why shouldn't it do so again?

Trees were planted in the sod, approximately six feet apart so that it took about 1,200 to cover an acre. Practically 500 acres have been planted, and the job is not nearly finished. During the next ten years they expect to finish the planting and have a 2,000 acre forest.

Badly Parked Cars Are Menace

(From The Insurance Field.)
Indiscriminate and practically unregulated parking of automobiles anywhere and everywhere, along busy streets in congested districts of great cities has often been criticized as a matter convenient to the owner or driver of the particular car so parked — but inconvenient to everybody else. A drag upon traffic and general nuisance to pedestrians and moving motor vehicles, especially to delivery cars and trucks. Now comes Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, Jr., director of the government's Hawaiian volcano observatory with the prediction that interference with parking will come some day pile catastrophe or disaster, unless action is taken to prevent automobiles from standing in the streets except when nobody is at the wheel. Dr. Jagger draws his conclusions from the Japanese earthquake of last fall—and he was on the spot to observe conditions. The tremendous automobile congestion on the streets of Tokyo, he says, so jammed the narrow

Q. Where is the most important lightship in the world? A. J.
A. Probably the Nantucket Lightship holds this place. A new vessel has just replaced the old ship. This one has a radio fog signal, and two other fog signals, a powerful steam streets that the fire apparatus could make no headway, while the presence of gasoline filling stations by the hundred over and above the quantities of gasoline in the individual machines, provided fuel for innumerable fire and added to the general horror.

"It was this condition," he says, "as much as the earthquake itself, which made the Japanese disaster the worst of all similar horrors on record." Rigid rules covering parking of motor cars, he believed, is one of the lessons we shall have to learn from this calamity.

Q. How old is Tammany Hall? G. B. N.

A. The Tammany Society was founded May 12, 1789, as "a fraternity of patriots," and was divided into 13 tribes corresponding to the 13 original states. It wielded a powerful influence in national affairs though it was not until Boss Tweed gained control of the organization in 1870 that it became emblematic of boss rule and policies.

Q. Please give data concerning Victoria Woodhull and her Suffrage work. B. M. C.
A. Victoria Woodhull (Mrs. John B. Martin) was born in Homer, Ohio, September 25, 1838, daughter of Ruben Buckner and Roxana Hummel Cliffin. She was educated in Ohio public schools and married twice—first to Dr. Canning Woodhull, who died 1872. In 1876 she married John B. Martin who died in 1897. In 1870 Mrs. Woodhull opened a bank on Wall Street, New York city, and in 1871 memorialized Congress on the subject of woman's rights. She was associated with Tennessee (Cliff) Lady Cook) in publishing "Woodhull and Cliffin's Weekly," and was nominated for president on the Equal Rights ticket in 1872. After her second marriage Mrs. Martin made her home in England and published the Humanitarian Magazine in London. With her daughter she toured Great Britain and the United States, lecturing for woman's suffrage, psychology, and other matters. She founded with her daughter the Woman's International Association and published the White Star mental in founding the Ladies Auto mobile Club of England.

Q. What is the significance of the crescent on the Turkish flag? J. G. A.
A. The device on the Turkish flag was adopted when the Turks captured Constantinople in 1453. It was originally the symbol of Edinna, who was the patroness of Byzantium. Though originally a pagan symbol, it remained throughout the rise and development of the Greek church a special mark of Constantinople. The origin of the quarter moon dates from the time of Emperor Philip, the father of Alexander the Great. While trying to take the city, he set his soldiers on a dark night to undermine the wall but the crescent moon appeared and revealed the design to the inhabitants. In acknowledgement, they erected a statue to Diana and made the crescent moon the symbol of their city.

YOUTH CONFESSES BURGLARY, SENT TO REFORMATORY

Lester Gettlinger Weeps Loudly When Judge Pronounces Sentence

Breaking down and maintaining to the last that he had told the truth and was inveigled into burglary on the Burdell Nelson warehouse in Dale, Lester Gettlinger, former youth of Dale, was sentenced to serve one year in the state reformatory at Green Bay Monday.

Gettlinger had been under bonds ever since the theft of $500 worth of clover seed from the Dale warehouse last December. His case had been postponed, however, until the disposal of Emil Wallerman of Dale, whom Gettlinger implicated. The charge against Wallerman was dismissed, and when he was rearrested on a charge of stealing a gun, Gettlinger's case was again postponed until after the gun stealing case. The jury acquitted Wallerman in spite of Gettlinger's charges.

He wept loudly in municipal court Monday afternoon when brought before Judge M. Spencer. He declared he had been "the goat" of the group of young men who had committed a series of thefts in his community. He said he had told the truth in his charges and promised he would leave "the gang" forever.

Judge Spencer thought that a year in the reformatory would help the young man to break away from his old associates and pronounced sentence to that effect. Sheriff Otto L. Zuehlke expects to conduct the young man to Green Bay on Wednesday.

Practically all of the clover seed stolen from the Dale warehouse was recovered by Sheriff Zuehlke and his deputies. They also found other loot that had been taken in previous burglaries.

WOMEN, ALWAYS!
London—Yes, the women were vain 2000 years ago. They liked to primp just as much as the women of today. A bronze hand mirror, just presented to the British Museum, testifies to that. It is believed to have been used by a Celtic lady of fashion about the time of Caesar's invasion in 55 B. C.

COUNTY IS SUED FOR $10,000 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Indian Woman Charges County Is Responsible for Drowning in 1922

A jury has been drawn in the $10,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Louise Smith, Oneida, against Outagamie County, but the case is being held open for ten days, as there is possibility of a settlement.

Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay, who is representing Mrs. Smith, announced, when the case was to be begun in circuit court Monday that his complaining witness did not appear, owing to a misunderstanding in the date of the trial.

Negotiation began for a settlement. The county, represented by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, offered to settle for $500, in lieu of standing the expense of a trial. The plaintiff appeared willing to settle for the sum of $1,000. Pending a possible settlement, the jury was temporarily excused.

Mrs. Smith bases her suit on the alleged condition of a county highway in Oneida, which, through a washout, resulted in the drowning of her husband in June 1922. The county disclaims responsibility for the death, maintaining that the washout was caused by an unprecedented rainfall.

NEED SYSTEMATIC THRIFT TRAINING

The importance of systematic training for thrift in the child while still young was emphasized by speakers at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the First Ward Monday night in the school auditorium. The speakers of Oshkosh, who is employed by the Bankers Association of Winnebago-co, spoke on thrift, investments and savings.

Several readings were given by Mrs. John Engel and a group of interpretive dances by Miss Hannah Rosenthal. The evening was concluded with a basket lunch and social time. Because of poor weather conditions the attendance was not as large as ordinarily.

$150 DAMAGE SUIT IN CIRCUIT COURT

A suit for damages in the sum of $150 as the result of an automobile collision on the Lake-rd near Waverly Beach last May is being tried by a jury in circuit court. The case which is that of Fred Bayer against Hugo Sturm, was begun Tuesday morning and at noon was adjourned by Judge Edgar V. Werner to 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The plaintiff, represented by Bullard and Spengler, with Attorney J. L. Johns of Appleton as counsel, declares that his Overland car was struck by the Overland car owned by the defendant on May 20, 1923, causing damages in the sum named. The accident occurred near the juncture of the Lake-rd and the Sherwood-Menasha-rd.

The defendant represented by Rooney & Crogan, contend that while the former was driving north on the Lake-rd and was crossing the Sherwood-rd, his Overland car was struck by a Ford automobile, which disabled the steering gear of the Overland. Shortly thereafter occurred the collision with the Bayer car, but the defendant insists he was on the west side of the road and was struck by the plaintiff's car.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks. Than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:

Your "Krumled Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.

Yours truly,
Arlington H. Carman,
Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purifies them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

MERCHANTS EAGER FOR EXHIBITION BOOTHS AT FAIR

Only a Few Display Spaces Are Left After First Sale Monday Morning

Kaukauna—There were only two or three booths left for exhibition purposes in the high school auditorium for the mid-winter fair on March 21 and 22 after the rush at 9 o'clock Monday morning when the booth sale opened in the municipal building. The committee in charge of the booths had realized that every possible inch of space that could be given over for booths would not supply the demand and had decided upon the plan of sell. Inquiries at a fixed hour and to those who came first as the only fair way of disposing of the situation.

There were a number of merchants who were unable to visit the council rooms during the booth sale. Edwin Haas, chairman of the booth committee, announced that the space would be granted to the first ones who would notify him of their desire to contract for exhibition space. Kaukauna—Whether the Electric City high school basketball team will appear in the finals of the annual basketball tournament will depend on the outcome of an elimination contest Tuesday evening with Clintonville in Alexander gymnasium, Appleton. The Orange and Black has a fast team but will be considerably handicapped in weight.

To date Kaukauna has played 11 games and has won 6. The local squad lost all but one of its games away from home but in the return contests in the local auditorium more than made up for the defeats. If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend it, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

COUNTY AUTOMOBILISTS FORM SAFE DRIVERS CLUB

MAKE HIGHWAYS SAFE FOR CARS, CLUB'S PROGRAM

Dr. W. H. Meeker Named President of Organization to Prevent Accidents

Outagamie County Safe Drivers club was organized at a meeting at the chamber of commerce assembly room Monday evening with Dr. W. H. Meeker as its president. Arrangements will be made at once to enroll automobile owners from all parts of Outagamie-co and conduct a public safety campaign.

Others elected to office are: First vice president, P. A. Kornely; second vice president, Otto Mossholder; secretary-treasurer, Miss L. B. Bieley.

This club is the outgrowth of a demand upon the chamber of commerce to do something to bring about traffic safety, stimulate a greater vigilance against careless and reckless driving and reduce the number of accidents. The motorists' pledge, and bylaws and driving rules for the club as proposed by a special committee and recommended by the community welfare committees of the chamber of commerce were adopted and organization work proceeded.

OBEDIENT TRAFFIC LAWS

Each member pledges himself to obey all traffic laws, adhere to the safe driving rules as adopted by the club and carry out the principles of the Motorists League for Countrywide Preservation. The latter provision means cleaning up of campfires, and when leaving, preserving forests and life and being careful with campfires so they do no damage.

Dues are fixed at one dollar a year, all of which will be used for current expenses of the club and for promotion of public safety. This fee pays for a club emblem which will be carried on the front of the car and for a printed copy of the bylaws and rules. The emblem for the car is to be a metal disc about three inches in diameter and bearing the name of the club and the year.

Rules for drivers require strict adherence to traffic laws of the community where the car is operated. They also include a series of signals that must be used to prevent confusion and outline procedures for making left turns, passing other machines and, general conduct on the city streets and county highways. Parking regulations also are outlined, with the provision that traffic is not to be endangered by stopping on heavily traveled highways in the rural districts.

REPORT VIOLATORS

Each member agrees to report the license number of all cars which are found to violate the law or the club rules. Members who do not exercise this privilege will be reported to the officers of the club. Three offenses will mean the disbarment of a member from the club and his name will be turned over to police or other authorities.

Officers of the law cannot be everywhere, and the result is that drivers take liberties which endanger other motorists. It is believed that seven or eight hundred drivers carrying the safe drivers club emblem will have a strong influence on such drivers, for the other motorists will know that they will be reported for violations even though no policeman is at hand. The club will also go to the aid of traffic problems and make recommendations that will minimize accidents and make driving more pleasurable and satisfactory.

War will be waged against the "road hog" and the speeding driver who steers the car with one hand and has the other around a young woman's waist. Those who pass arterial highway signs with out stopping also will be reported. The police department has indicated the rules and offered suggestions, and the club will offer its cooperation to help enforce the laws.

The membership roll now is open and applications will be received at the chamber of commerce from any autoist in the county.

New Lot of Mah Jongg sets just received, priced at $1.50, $3.98, $4.95 up to $30.00. The tiles in the better sets are made of genuine bamboo with bone tops.—GEENEN'S.

TRACTION COMPANY BUYS 5 MORE CARS FOR EXTRA SERVICE

New Equipment Will Be Delivered for Use Here Within Six Weeks

Five new cars have been ordered by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company for use on its lines, according to announcement of A. K. Ellis, general manager.

Four are interurbans similar to those now in use and one a smaller pay-as-you-enter car like those operating on the Junction-cemetery line. The small one will be here in about four weeks and the four large ones in six weeks.

These will be used as supplementary equipment, either to replace cars sent to the shops or as extra cars when traffic is heavy. Several of the large steel cars formerly used on the interurban lines had been retained for conveying workmen to and from mills during rush periods, but these will be discarded and the new type of rolling stock used altogether.

These additions will give the company a total of ten high-powered interurban cars of the improved safety type and four cars for city service.

Ten building permits were issued during February by the city engineer, as compared with two in January. The value of construction authorized totaled $122,900 in February, as against $80 in January. This large amount was due to the permit for the erection of the Conway hotel addition.

Fourteen permits were issued since the beginning of the year, of which two were for residences, three for garages, and ten for miscellaneous construction.

Two permits issued on Monday brought the total of proposed construction to $178,260. The latest permits are:

Appleton Man Is Link Between Washington And Wilson

IN Appleton there resides a man who has shaken hands with the veterans of every war in which America has taken part, from the Revolutionary struggle for independence in 1776 to the World war for democracy in 1917. Erastus H. Wilder, 701 Drew-st., a veteran of the Civil war, is the man who thus exemplifies the union of fighting comrades from Washington to Wilson.

This record is held by Mr. Wilder not because he is so old that he actually lived through these struggles, for he is 84, but because the last survivor of the Revolution, Daniel Frederick Bachman, lived through the Civil war and was 100 years old at the time of his death. Wilder and Bachman met in 1883 and a picture obtained by the Appleton man at that time has been preserved ever since. He presented it to Oney Johnston post of the American legion and it will be enlarged and framed and hung in its meeting hall. Mr. Wilder related the history of receipt of the picture when he attended a legion meeting with 13 other veterans of the Civil war.

IN UNION ARMY

Mr. Wilder was serving in the Union army at the time he met Bachman. He was a young soldier whose home was at Varysburg, N. Y., and Bachman lived at Freedom, N. Y. Wilder went home on furlough in 1863 and attended a fair at Buffalo where money was being raised to provide hospital care and sanitation equipment for the soldiers. Here he met the Revolutionary war veteran, who at his age of 103 years at that time, was the center of much curiosity.

They exchanged greetings and one of the small pictures of the centennial on sale at that time to earn money was bought by Mr. Wilder. He has had several pictures made from it since. That meeting was quite an impression on the young warrior and he has cherished that memory ever since. Bachman was able to climb in and out of his carriage without help. His oldest daughter, then 70 years old, was with him.

LIVED 100 YEARS

Desiring to learn definitely whether Bachman was the last survivor of the Revolutionary war, Mr. Wilder wrote to the pension department in 1898 and still has in his possession the letter received from them. It declares that Bachman was the last pensioner. He applied for the pension when he was 107 years old and was residing at Freedom, N. Y., the letter said.

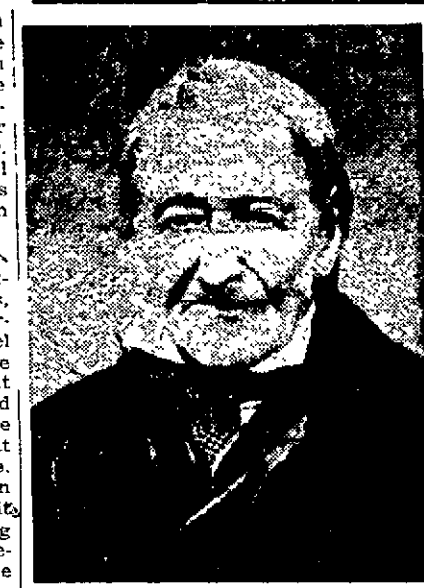

Bachman was born in Albany, New York, Oct. 10, 1793 and died at Freedom April 5, 1893. His exact age was 100 years, 5 months and 25 days. He served for more than four years in Washington's army under Capt. Vannum, commanding the company, and Col. Willett, commanding the regiment. A coincidence noted by Mr. Wilder is that his birthday also falls on Oct. 10, and that he is the only survivor of the officers of the Ninth New York cavalry.

Mr. Wilder took part in most of the important battles of the Civil war in Virginia, but was out of the actual fighting for four months while he was held by the Confederate forces at Libby prison. He enlisted at Varysburg, Wyoming-co, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1861 as a private and served until May 24, 1865.

His first promotion was to sergeant of his company in the Ninth New York cavalry. He then became company quartermaster sergeant, then quartermaster of the regiment. He rose later to the rank of second lieutenant, then to first lieutenant and quartermaster.

CAME WEST IN 1879

Mr. Wilder returned to New York state after receiving his honorable discharge from the army. He came west to Wisconsin in 1879, settling at Brooklynn. He then moved to Stoughton where he was in the lumber business for nine years. Moving to Wilton, he became postmaster there and held this position for 15 years. In 1917 he retired and came to Appleton, where he lives with his daughter and son-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schmalz, 701 Drew-st. He is a regular attendant at meetings of the George Washington post, Grand Army of the Republic.

ERASTUS H. WILDER (RIGHT) HAS THE UNIQUE DISTINCTION OF HAVING MADE THE ACQUAINTANCE OF VETERANS OF EVERY WAR IN WHICH AMERICA HAS PARTICIPATED. WHILE HE WAS IN THE CIVIL WAR HE BECAME ACQUAINTED WITH DANIEL F. BACHMAN (ABOVE) LAST SURVIVOR OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, AND HE HAS SHAKEN HANDS WITH MEN WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE WAR OF 1812, THE MEXICAN WAR, THE CIVIL WAR, THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR AND THE WORLD WAR.

"I HAVE ABSOLUTE FAITH IN FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE"

In a recent letter, Mr. Francis S. Mitchell, former overseer K. of C. Secretary, tells of his experience with Father John's Medicine:
"It used to be a regular thing for me to experience a run-down feeling in the winter time, often catching cold and having a nasty cough and losing weight. But for the last five years, thanks to Father John's Medicine, I have not been troubled much.
"It relieves my cough and acts as a tonic and enriches my blood. I always gain back my lost weight. I would like to see every one using Father John's Medicine because of its splendid results to health and strength." (Signed) Francis S. Mitchell, 1172 W. Ferry Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Is Winter Time Your Backache Time?

Does Your Back Foretell Every Change of Weather? Do You Feel Old and Stiff and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, stiff and achy? Are you nervous and depressed; feel tired, worn-out and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off. The kidneys are apt to weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder, then, that every cold finds many folks suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities.

If this is the case with you, don't risk neglect! Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Begin using Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Local users testify to their worth. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Appleton Folks:

T. W. BATLEY, 546 Richmond-St., says: "Every time I got a cold it seemed to settle on my kidneys and cause me pain in the small of my back. Some days the pain was so bad I could hardly get up to walk around. My kidneys acted poorly and the secretions were highly colored and contained sediment. I started taking Doan's Pills for this trouble and three boxes cured me of the attack."

MRS. E. A. TIBBETTS, 1214 Lawrence-St., says: "I suffered a great lot with pain in the small of my back and over my hips. Sometimes a sharp pain seemed to cut right into my kidneys. My kidneys were disordered and I was nervous and troubled by frequent dizzy spells. I got Doan's Pills at Walker's Drug Store and after taking but one box, I was not troubled any more with backache or kidney trouble."

Dormitory And Cafeteria Help Y.M.C.A. Maintain Its Service To Public

George F. Werner, General Secretary Refutes Claim That Two Departments Help Incur Deficit at Institution.

BY GEORGE F. WERNER
The Y. M. C. A. buildings of thirty-five and forty years ago gave up their best floor to stores which they rented to increase their revenue. When the store was vacant, the revenue fell off heavily. The social and reading rooms and offices were put on the second floor and required a long climb up stairs.

About thirty-five years ago, Milwaukee built its first Y. M. C. A. building and instead of putting stores on the first floor they put the reading and social rooms and offices on the main floor; assembly and class rooms on the second floor, and dormitories on the third and fourth floors.

This was the first Y. M. C. A. building in the country to adopt the dormitory idea. It proved so popular and worked so much better than the stores, that from that day to this no Y. M. C. A. building has been built without a maximum number of dormitories.

Some of the distinct advantages of this plan are: it provides a good revenue, increases the membership, and provides a home for young men away from home. If a few rooms are vacant, the revenue loss is small. This plan gives the Y. M. C. A. the best floor, namely the first, for its own and public use.

FURNISH REVENUE
The rents are low enough to enable the young man who comes to the city to live, to make his home in the Y. M. C. A., and high enough to provide a good profit above the overhead, and thus furnish revenue to help carry on the many non-finance producing features of the Y. M. C. A., including much public service. This revenue also helps to make it possible to sell memberships in a Y. M. C. A. at a rate low enough to suit the pocketbook of any boy or young man of small means.

Rates charged in the rooming houses have much to do with the making of rates in a Y. M. C. A. In some cities rents are higher than others and the Y. M. C. A. can charge more.

The primary purpose of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory is to furnish a home for young men away from home under the direction of Christian men trained for this service.

MOSTLY YOUNG MEN
The average age of occupants of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. dormitory is under twenty-four. Only two men are over thirty-nine. Quite a number are under twenty. A membership fee is required of every roomer. Many dormitory men who can afford it carry a sustaining membership, thus helping to finance the general program of the Y. M. C. A.

The young men are a cosmopolitan group, mechanics, clerks, students, a few professional men, and a few managers of business concerns. The industrial group is in the majority. The fact that a man does not wear a white collar does not make him feel less at home in a Y. M. C. A.

*The question is sometimes asked, "We thought the Y. M. C. A. dormitory was for young men of small means. Why do you let men live in the dormitory who could afford to live in a hotel?"

In the first place, a hotel would not be as much of a home as the Y. M. C. A., and surely every man is entitled to the best home he can get away from home. In the second place, these men are entitled to use of the Y. M. C. A. if they pay the rent and support the institution. In the third place, they are not crowding out the young men of small means. When there has been too large a waiting list, the Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the country have put on an age or time limit, or sometimes an income limit, thus giving preference to the younger group. Such a need has not risen in Appleton.

NO DORMITORY DEFICIT
The public is never called on to make up a deficit because of the operation of the dormitory. If it were not for their earnings the amount needed from public subscriptions to carry on the Y. M. C. A. program would be much larger.

The cafeteria, or restaurant, has been a part of the earliest Y. M. C. A. It was installed to provide for the social life and for the frequent banquets or plain feeds, called for in a Y. M. C. A. program, and last but not least, to help provide additional revenue to carry on the service program.

The Y. M. C. A. cafeteria is not unfair competition. Its charges are much the same as other eating places. It is often the only cafeteria in town and some people prefer that service. It operates usually only during meal hours. In Appleton it is open only for dinner and supper and not at all on Sundays.

It has its struggles and problems like other restaurants and as a rule, makes a reasonable profit, and pays the Y. M. C. A. a fair amount for such overhead as rent, heating, light, etc.

No one in Appleton is called on to make up a deficit on the cafeteria. It hasn't any, but instead it helps to provide some revenue, thereby reducing the amount the public is asked to give to help carry the big work which the Y. M. C. A. is doing for boys and young men, for girls and women, and for the public at large.

KEEPS COSTS DOWN
Where do Y. M. C. A. deficits come from? The Cafeteria and dormitory make money? That is a fair question.

Membership fees charged boys, range from $5 to $7 and men from $10 to $25. It costs the Y. M. C. A. at least $25 per member to furnish the privileges, but if this rate were charged all members, most boys and young men could not afford to belong. It has therefore a sustaining membership which runs from $35.00 to $50.00. This sustaining membership, or contribution, together with the income from the Dormitories and Cafeteria, from games such as bowling and billiards; towels and soap, and numerous other items, help make up the annual operating deficit caused by giving those privileges at low cost.

The Y. M. C. A. also permits the use of its rooms for many public groups which could not well be charged each time they come here and which are glad and welcome to use the Y. M. C. A. These groups come from churches, lodges, schools, industrial groups, and every other conceivable group in the city.

Many of our boys who are using the Y. M. C. A. regularly cannot pay all of the small membership fee and yet they should not be barred. The Y. M. C. A. is a public servant and merits the public support.

WHERE DEFICITS OCCUR

The deficits, if any, occur in the service department, especially for boys, of which there are a large number, and surely everyone interested in the welfare of Appleton wants this good work to prosper. Unexpected increased fuel costs and some things in the up-keep that cannot be foreseen help to make the deficit many times. We are getting nearer to a "touchdown" each year.

The Y. M. C. A. also makes some contributions to the work in the state and the country at large and receives much service from these general agencies in return.

The Appleton Y. M. C. A. is 80 per cent self-supporting. Only 20 per cent of its budget is asked for in contributions or sustaining memberships.

WANTS TOWNS TO SERVE
RURAL AREAS BETTER

Making towns and cities more of a center of service to the rural communities surrounding them is the aim set before the chamber of commerce by the experiment station of the Wisconsin department of agriculture. This is largely due to changes in conditions brought about by automobile transportation and improved highways.

A book has been prepared by J. H. Kolb of the experiment station on this subject and a copy has been submitted to the chamber for study. It gives an analysis of typical rural centers in Wisconsin, showing the extent to which they are of service to the farmer, or the extent to which they thus are lacking.

Some of the ideas embodied in Mr. Kolb's summary probably will be included in the rural program of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Keely and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. 200 High Schools Get Set For Entry In State Basketball Tournament

Elimination Games for District Competition Will Be Played In Alexander Gymnasium Tuesday Night.

Madison—With the basketball season drawing to a close, more than 200 high school teams are making preparations for going into district championship tournaments with the state tournament here in view. Dates for the state tournament have been set as March 26, 27, 28 and 29, and district tournaments March 13, 14 and 15, according to T. E. Jones, executive director at the University of Wisconsin where the state tournament will be held.

Approximately 200 high school boys are expected to be here to compete in the meet. Sixteen district championship teams will be represented in the contest for state honors. Preliminary arrangements for the state meet were made at a meeting of the executive committee held Saturday and Director Jones will proceed immediately with selection of officials and completing details.

SIXTEEN TEAMS COMPETE
As has been done in previous years, the sixteen district champions will be brought here by the universities and entertained four days during the state elimination.

District divisions have been completely revised this year by the state committee and high schools advised as to their district affiliations and where the sectional meets will be held. The state tournament here always attracts large delegations from each of the strong contenders for state honors. It is said, and this year the meet is expected to be hotly contested. The university athletic department will award trophies for winners.

Director Jones is in charge of detailed plans for the tournament at the university. V. G. Barnes, Madison, is president of the Wisconsin Interscholastic association which sponsors the meet. Detailed arrangements as to officials for the meet, trophies and entertainment features which will be staged by university organizations for the benefit of visiting high school teams, will be announced within a short time, university officials said.

DISTRICT MEET STARTS
After calling off its preliminary game with Menasha for a chance to compete in the district basketball tournament here, New London again has changed its mind and will play with Menasha after Kaukauna, and Clintonville have settled their dispute on the Alexander gymnasium court Tuesday night.

Both New London and Menasha have strong teams this year and the Tuesday game is expected to be close and fast. Kaukauna and Clintonville will lock horns in the first game of the evening, and the winners of the two games will be entered in the district meet, which is scheduled to start March 13.

The first game will start at 7:30.

OLYMPICS SWAMP RUTHS KEGLERS
Olympic Allie's bowling team Monday night swamped Ruths Keglers in a match rolled on the Olympic alleys here, and took three straight games by wide margins. In the first game the Ruths topped 773 naps, and the Olympics smashed 925. In the second, the invaders beat their score by more than 100 naps, but after the Olympics had done their stuff, they had 934 chalked up on the sheet. Both teams dropped to a lower level in the third game, but the Olympic Alleys still were in the lead, 911 to 844 and copped the match 2770 to 2524.

N. Brauer smashed 577 pins for high score on the Olympics, which gave him second place in the match. H. Behrens led the ten competing Keglers with a 554.

MOGULS CHOOSE TEAMS FOR OSHKOSH TOURNAY
Oshkosh—E. A. Clemans of the Oshkosh Normal school who is in charge of the high school sectional tournament which will be held here March 13, 14 and 15 announced that the schoola picked to enter the tournament are Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Daville, Neenah, Omro, Ripon, Winneconne, and either Berlin or Rosendale. The latter two will have to play off a game to decide the one which will enter Ripon. Ripon has an exceptionally strong team this year and may emerge as the dark horse. The teams were chosen according to their record this season.

JOSH BILLINGS
Josh Billings, who holds all records for winning big league benches to lose his soft job. The St. Louis Browns recently sent him to Los Angeles in a trade for the star battery of that club.

For years Billings has stuck around in the big show, not catching as many games as a regular would in one season. Always a valuable second string catcher, Billings lacked something that kept him in the backround throughout his big league career.

Drexler and Selig Tuesday night will attempt to overtake Laethen and Jahas in the second block of their 300 point bowler battle match, which they will play off in the west end Carr and Hanson billiard parlors.

Last week Drexler and Selig were unable to score consistently off their rivals safeties, while Laethen and Jahas sunk the balls and Drexler formerly played on the same team with Laethen. Applington in several league matches and the two stars are very evenly matched. Selig and Jahas also have played many games on the same team, and their play is quite even.

The shooting will start at 8 o'clock and no admission is charged.

PRO GOLFERS OPEN FIRST MIAMI MEET
Miami, Fla.—With champions of four nations presented in the entry list, the international professional team championship golf tournament opened here Tuesday.

Arthur Haversall of the British open title Jimmie Ockenden, French open champion Gene Sarazen professional champion of the United States and Clarence Mackenzie holder of the Canadian open title, are among the entrants.

The tournament is officially sanctioned by the Professional Golfers' association and will be the first of its kind. The team which survives the three 36 holes of match play will be awarded the international team championship of the world as the play will be on a best ball foursome basis.

HILLTOP CANCELS RETURN CONTEST WITH LAWRENTIANS

Freshmen Rule at Marquette Makes It Impossible to Play Final Game

Lawrence has played its last game of basketball this season. Marquette had been scheduled to invade this city Friday for a return game with the Blue, but a combination of circumstances has dropped up to set this plan at naught.

Before the season opened Coaches Denney and Murray framed an agreement whereby Lawrence and Marquette were to play two games this year, after a lapse of five seasons. As Marquette was barred from using freshmen on its regular lineup, Coach Murray insisted that Lawrence adhere to the same rule in its games with the Hilltoppers. At that time, the Blue also was barred from the use of yearlings in conference games, and as Denney had eight or nine upper classmen on his string, he consented.

Since that time, Lawrence has lost several men through their failures in academic subjects, another through the professional bar, and has been forced to rely upon its yearlings who became eligible after Feb. 1. Denney still has five upper classmen on his squad, but several of them have been out of the game for sometime, and it would be foolhardy to attempt a contest with a team as strong as Marquette without substitutes.

Therefore the two coaches have agreed to postpone the game until next year, when the Hilltoppers and Blues will clash twice.

CARLETON WOULD BATTLE BELLOIT
Northfield, Minn.—Carleton college of Northfield, and Beloit college of Beloit, tied for the basketball championship of the Midwest will meet in a playoff to decide the title, if Beloit is willing, according to an announcement by Claude Hunt, director of athletics at Carleton.

Mr. Hunt has written Tom Mills, athletic director at Beloit, suggesting a playoff for the championship and according to his plan either one game or a series of games would be played. Carleton and Beloit have closed their conference schedules with perfect records.

BY ONE PUNCH O'GOOFY
"I saw to her, says I. 'Say sweetie how about it, how about it, huh?'"

"And she comes back with, 'To whom are you speaking, sir, to whom?'"

"Well no string of jade is going to To whom me and get away with it."

On 121 as per a swell rear view of my manly shoulders and flatwheals out into the cool evening breeze, leaving her cold and speechless.

"And anytime you can leave 'em speechless, you've done something noble, even if you didn't score."

Because she lost her lucky glove, the champion woman golfer was beaten in a match on the coast. She just couldn't get her hand in, we suppose.

No matter what happens, the coming season will be reasonably easy to endure—Sir Thomas Lipton isn't going to build a Shamrock.

It is appropriately announced that a return fight between Gibbons and Dempsey has been clinched. That's all the news did in their first fight.

Now that Carter and the Egyptians have worked King Tut up to the importance of a windup attraction, Tex Rickard may be persuaded to take it over on a percentage basis, including movie rights.

Expensive Rookies

DEAN COMBS

Two of the most sought after young ball players in the minors—Wayland Dean, a pitcher, and Earle Combs, an outfielder—were recently added to the pay rolls of the rival New York clubs. Dean went to Mr. McGraw's Giants while Combs was grabbed off by Mr. Huggins' Yankees.

Dean was the best pitcher in the association last year. Combs is said to be the best outfielder to come out of the south since the days of Joe Jackson. It is needless to add the New York clubs paid plenty for their newest acquisitions.

Quinn's Record Shows Enviably List Of Wins
Appleton may well be proud to number "Gunner" Joe Quinn among its residents, and a glance through his record is sufficient proof of that fact. The Gunner has fought all over the country, from northern Canada to the gulf of Mexico, and the press throughout the country praises him in the highest terms. A number of clippings chosen from the hundreds in his scrap book bear out this fact.

The New York Times of July 29, 1923 has the following to say: "Gunner" Joe Quinn jumped into the lime light as the real contender for the title when he fought Phil Krug to a sensational draw in the semi-final of the Tandier Leonard contest in Bove's Thirty Acres Thursday night. Quinn's showing was a big revelation to the 60,000 fans present who gave him a wonderful sendoff."

The Brooklyn Eagle comes forth with the following: "Quinn is the most logical contender for the very much muddled up middleweight championship. When he waded through Dave Rosenberg with surprising success he made a decided hit. Quinn is willing to take on Greb for the right to face Wilson."

Take the word of Charlie White for it. "Gunner" Joe Quinn is quite a handy young man with his mitts. It isn't often that I go on record as booing any particular fighter, but this once you may quote me as saying that "Gunner" Joe Quinn can lick any middleweight in these parts, and that goes for any of them."

The Gunner has met some very good fighters, but perhaps the best of them were Tommy Burns and Jimmy Delaney. Burns beat young Scribbling, and Quinn fought Burns to a draw. Delaney is considered one of the best light heavyweights in the country, but the newspapers were divided as to who should get the decision. Delaney got it in their first battle, but the second was declared a draw.

Quinn also has fought in the army, and during the war acted as instructor in a training camp. He represented the army when his fighters met the navy sluggers, and knocked out John Perry on his own ship. He also fought in Paris, where he won a loving cup nearly as big as himself.

When he meets Jack Ruddy in Army G on March 11, feathers may be expected to fly. The Gunner has never been forced to let himself out in an Appleton fight, but according to the dops on Ruddy, he'll have to do it this time.

SUPERIOR AND OSHKOSH WILL CLASH FOR TITLE
Superior—Superior and Oshkosh Normal will play at Oshkosh Thursday night in what the local normal officials consider will determine the basketball championship of the Wisconsin normal schools conference. Superior bases her contention on La Crosse's failure to play the required eight normal games. "The question came prominently before a meeting of coaches and an Oshkosh referee abnolently to abide by the rules and play the required number of games to the fact that they were offered games by other normal coaches."

said Coach Tubbs of the Superior Normal on Monday.

Chicago—Joey Sangor, Milwaukee, outboxed Edie Shea of Chicago in 10 rounds.

Madison—Wisconsin stepped into second place in the Western conference basketball race and won a chance for the championship by defeating Ohio State, 30 to 20, here Monday night.

Wisconsin outplayed the Buckeyes from the start, taking a lead a few minutes after the game opened. The Badgers showed a style of play that seemed to bewilder the visitors and had a safe lead throughout the contest.

The guarding of Diebold and Wackman for Wisconsin and the floor work of Farwell and Elsom were the outstanding features of the contest. Miller, flashy Ohio forward, was held down to two field goals while Cunningham, Ohio center, chalked up four. Farwell led the Badgers in scoring with 12 points. Wisconsin led at the half, 16 to 12.

TREZISE IS NAMED ATHLETIC MANAGER
Fred Trezise has been named athletic manager by the Lawrence Athletic board, and as such will assist Coach A. C. Denney with the training of trackmen and other athletes. Trezise has had considerable experience as trainer of football aspirants, in which capacity he had good success at the University of Michigan. Last year he helped develop a strong track team at Lawrence and with much of their old material he and Coach Denney look forward to a highly successful season.

SOUTH SIDE BEATS THIRD WARD CAGERS
South Side grade school Monday night won the first contest of the Grade school championship tourney, 13 to 10, from the Third ward team, which played with but three boys on the lineup when the remaining two failed to show up. Despite the great handicap, the Third warders put up a hard fight, and several times threatened to take the lead.

Edwin Helms starred for the losers with three fieldgoals to his credit, while John Bettler caged three for the South Siders.

Helms, Dressing and Bonick played for the Third Ward, against Gilbert and John Bettler, forwards, Lewis, center, and Jess Halerson and Herman Wolfgram, guards.

F. O. E. GIRLS HUMBLE DEBAURER OIL BOWLERS
F. O. E. Girls Monday night took three straight games from the DeBaurer Oil Co. legiers in a handicap match rolled on the Eagle alleys here, and copped the match, 2357 to 2231. The girls rolled a good game and even without their handicap of 300 would have given the Oilmen a hard rub. If Schuize of the DeBaurer team rolled 444 for high score, three points in advance of L. Reinke, who starred for the girls.

John M'Graw Puts Bar On Royal Game

New York—Manager John McGraw of the Giants signaled his arrival at the Saratoga camp Monday by banning golf as a ball player's pastime. Signs of a general campaign against the royal game by major league managers is evidenced by a similar edict issued by Ty Cobb and reports that Manager Robinson of Brooklyn is contemplating following the precedent.

The general theory, upon which the action is based, is said to be an opinion that attention cannot be given to golf with out a lessening of interest in baseball.

Both McGraw and Huggins, leaders of the champions of the two leagues, plan conferences with hold-outs who are working without contracts.

"Pep" Young, who arrived Monday is the most important of the unsigned.

THIRD BASE IS WEAK POSITION ON MANY CLUBS
New York—With the vanguard of the major league players already in the south for spring training, three American League and as many National League clubs appear at that very difficult position, third base.

The St. Louis Browns must develop a player from the recruits for that position. None of the players who held down third last season quite came up to the major league standard.

Unless Blagoe, who started so well last year and then filtered, comes through Washington will be seriously handicapped.

At Boston, Manager Lee Fohl must do some experimenting. He will start with McMillan, who, if he hits consistently, should do.

A number of National League clubs are in a similar position. The death of Tony Boeckel leaves the Boston Braves as the hardest hit. Any club in the older league could have weathered the loss of a star player better.

DOWNEY WOULD TEST BERLENBACH ABILITY
It's time they stopped feeding Paul Berlenbach setups. The reformed wrestler scored his twenty-fourth consecutive knockout the other night against Pat Walsh, a ham-and-egger.

Bryan Downey, a tough, seasoned veteran, would give Berlenbach a real test. While Downey is no wonder, he is a good trial horse.

FIVE SYSTEMS OF BRAKES ARE USED ON AUTOMOBILES

Opinions of Engineers Vary as to Most Effective Kind of Brake

Four-wheel brakes—yes. But, having generally accepted these as more or less necessary equipment on our automobiles, the controversy now turns to the kind of brakes to be adopted.

There is the internal expansion type. The external contracting brake. The hydraulic brake. The compressed air system. And, of late, the electrically operated brake.

There are variations of these such as a combination of internal and external types on one car. But these five contain the underlying principles of brakes for all wheels, at the present time and for some time to come.

OPINIONS VARY
Engineers differ over the advantages of each type. The engineer for a car using the hydraulic brake will bring up the point that here, and here only, can the driver be certain of direct, positive, brake action. That little foot pressure is needed in proportion to the amount of pressure put against the wheels, and that the durability of the mechanism is almost limitless.

Yet advocates of the internal, and of the external, friction types will come forward with the claim that here are the truer types of brakes. That with these the friction on the front wheels can be adjusted to slightly less force than that on the rear wheels, to prevent locking of the steering wheels. That if one-fourth of the mechanism gets out of order the remaining three-fourths can still be applied for braking—which can not be claimed for the hydraulic system.

PUSH OR PULL?
But there's also a difference of opinion between the users of the internal expansion and the external contracting brakes. Between users of cables from pedals to brakes, and those relying on rods connecting these parts.

The question, between the first two groups, is "Does the PUSH of internal brakes result in greater or less brakeage than the PULL of the external type?"

And the argument between the cable and the rod advocates resolves itself into a difference between cable stretching and rod rattling. Compressed air brakes have been spoken of for some time, but the difficulty with these has been their excessive frictional capacity. Air, powerful enough to stop a train, would have to be controlled much more finely before it can be applied safely on comparatively light automobiles.

A NEWCOMER
In Europe, the electric brake under control of electromagnetic action at each wheel, has made its appearance recently. That needs just the touch of a button for their application.

No information has yet reached here as to how such brakes could be controlled in varying degrees. Perhaps a rheostat arrangement is included in the mechanism. Or perhaps the system relies on direct and full application, at short intervals, instead of slight prolonged brakeage that can be applied on other systems.

Recovers From Illness
F. E. Anderson of Milwaukee, former state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has many acquaintances in Appleton, has been confined to his home for several months by illness, but is recovering. While on his way home from Chicago Saturday, George W. Wornat, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., stopped over between trains in Milwaukee to visit him.

Lived With Indians

THURLOW LIEURANCE

Considerable interest has been shown in the concert that will be presented here March 7 by Thurlow Lieurance, composer-pianist, his wife, Edna Woolley Lieurance, and George B. Tack, assisting flutist. These artists appear here under the auspices of the music department of Appleton Woman's club. The seat sale opens on Tuesday.

Thurlow Lieurance is a man who has spent most of his life studying the life of the American Indian, recording their music and ceremonials, using these as the themes for his compositions. Edna Woolley, soprano, has spent much time with her husband on his tours.

Flute calls and music played on real Indian flutes is another feature of the program. George B. Tack, the flutist who accompanies the Lieurances, has an unusual collection of these instruments.

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR CHANCE IN HYDE CONTEST

Tryouts for the Hyde declamatory contest will be held at Appleton high school on Thursday and Friday afternoons under the direction of Miss Ruth McKenna. Any junior or senior who wishes to take part in the contest may enter the tryouts. From this list, five contestants will be chosen.

In the tryouts, the students read from any selection with which they have had no help in preparation. They are given five minutes in which to give their readings. Many of the students will read the climax sections of well known short stories.
